

Some of The Things I Remember
About The Customs, Traditions, and Life of My Family, Both Internal and External.

by Mattie J. Farthing, a daughter of Ed and Susan Alford.

What you remember hearing the older people relate, in your earlier life, such as the life and times of their fore bearers customs, traditions, even back to Colonial times and the emigration of the first emigrants in our families, will be interesting.

Also, the life and times of your period and day - social life in the community, the family, business conditions, travel, schooling, churches, and the like, will be of interest to us in this day and generation and those who come after us.

Just jot down thoughts and impressions as they come to you and in your own way. I will rewrite and use at appropriate place in the record I plan to write. Take your time. More will come to mind, after you think about these things, several times, before dictating your impressions.
